Coach's Comment

I am perplexed as to the poor attendance at the Sydney United game last Sunday and have been wrestling with the question as to why ever since.

Sunday fixtures shouldn't be written off yet especially after last weekend's bad weather and the pall of gloom over the city because of the tragic floods on Friday.

The decision to play our games on Sunday was made before the season started after our Chairman held several workshops with the local soccer community to establish the best day and time for our matches.

The outcome of these discussions resulted in the club moving to Sundays so as not to conflict with the local winter competition when it got under-way, which it did a fortnight ago.

This allows the local clubs to play their games on Friday night, Saturday afternoon or night and Sunday afternoons and gives the soccer supporter and players, the opportunity to attend a Strikers fixture should they wish.

Another fact is that we chose to play some Friday nights because of our forced move from Lang Park and rugby commitments at Ballymore.

We didn't want to play the day after a rugby match because of the state the field could be in - painted out lines on the field and painted out advertising.

We gave careful consideration to our loyal fans and our players. Last weekend was the first Sunday NSL fixture this season.

The point I'm trying to make is this. Attendance's in many sports are down across the country and I believe it has nothing to do with scheduling.

Fans aren't going to watch the "bread and butter" stuff any more. They go to the big games - grand finals, state of origin, world cup matches etc, etc.

Our sporting public has been "sensationalised" by the media to the point where they will only attend in numbers when a world championship of something is at stake.

Besides, they can always get a factual account in the newspaper the next day or watch it on TV in the comfort of their armchairs... and who makes the money from that... not soccer clubs let me tell you.

Enjoy the game.... Kossie

...from the Chairman's desk

Sadly I missed watching last Sunday's game but I did not miss all the action that was happening.

It was being relayed to me via mobile phone and although feeling a bit off colour, the updates I received certainly lifted my spirits.

You may remember in the last issue, I said that I was not normally a betting man but would have a small on the side wager for the Strikers to achieve three wins in a row.

If you didn't do the same as I, then you may well have missed out, because now I have the first leg of the treble up.

Our boys delivered us a terrific result against Sydney United and tonight hopefully, they will give us a repeat performance.

This could well be our toughest match of the season but that will only stir the team on to greater heights.

If you know someone who has never been to a Strikers game, why don't you encourage them, or better still, bring them along to our next home game against Eastern Pride on Sunday week.

Also by then we may have some news that the Brisbane Strikers will continue to spearhead the Queensland assault on the national title.

We have experienced many days of cloudy skies of late and not everything has been black and white, although I wish it was but I am quietly confident that very soon it will be blue skies again for the Strikers.

As usual I wish to thank our sponsors one and all, especially Hyundai, Parmalat and the Clem Jones Group of companies.

In closing, I would like to extend a warm welcome to Australia's national coach Frank Farina.

Frank is here tonight watching the game and I hope his visit is both enjoyable and fruitful. Out best wishes go with him in his quest of a World Cup berth.

...from the Captains desk

With this article being written prior to Sunday's encounter with Sydney United, I didn't have a chance to look back at the game for material, so instead I will look forward to tonight's game and what lies ahead over the closing stages of this year's competition.

Having played Wollongong a couple of weeks ago, we now face their main rivals in the battle for the minor premiership in South Melbourne.

Now we don't need Sherlock Holmes to tell us tonight's match will be difficult (just one look at their squad list will suffice) but just how difficult will depend on how we ourselves approach the game.

I'm not going to go into details here about exactly how we are going to approach this evenings fixture but what I will say is that I don't think motivating the rest of the lads is something I will need to do in the dressing room tonight.

Once the first whistle goes, however, the real test of our determination, grit and stamina will begin.

Having to compete with the likes of Paul Trimboli, Con Boutsianis, Vaughan Coveny etc is something that this squad is very capable of and I believe these 'big games' bring out the best in the Hyundai Brisbane Strikers of 2001.

Although we are taking it one game at a time, a quick glance at the fixture list should give the Strikers fans a bit of excitement and wet the appetite to say the least.

With matches against Sydney's Northern Spirit, West Australia's Perth Glory and Marconi Stallions to come, there are plenty of big exciting and entertaining games still to be played at Ballymore.

Lets just hope we can achieve big results.

Thanks for your support

Souths have pedigree

The Brisbane Strikers will be on a revenge mission when they meet one of Australian soccer's proudest clubs, South Melbourne, at Ballymore tonight.

The last time the two sides met, in Melbourne on November 19 last year, the Strikers crashed 3-0 thanks mainly to South Melbourne's Andy Vlahos, who scored a hat-trick.

South Melbourne have dominated all season and is assured of a place in the top six. The minor premiership is expected to be fought between South and Wollongong, with Sydney Olympic and Perth also a chance to finish first.

Tonight's fixture is a deferred round 21 match, with the Strikers asking for the original date to be altered because of the absence of a number of players through injury and primarily Young Socceroos commitments.

South Melbourne is one of only three clubs to have played in every National League season. The club's pedigree is unquestioned.

South sit on top of the all-time NSL table ahead of Marconi and along with Sydney City and Marconi hold the record for the most number of National Championships - four.

The Melbourne side has finished minor premiers twice, NSL Cup winners twice and have participated in 12 finals series.

South's current captain, Paul Trimboli, is without doubt one of Australia's greatest ever soccer players.

He's been involved with a league championship side three times, has twice been named the NSL player of the year and has represented Australia at three levels.

Trimboli was chosen as a member of the Australian Under 16 team that travelled to China to take part in the inaugural World Championships.

Against the world's best, he and the Australian team excelled. The Aussies finished top of their group, defeating eventual finalists West Germany 1-0, Congo 2-1 and Argentina 1-0. Trimboli got the winner against the West Germans and against the Congo.

In 1986 Trimboli was awarded the Northern Division National Youth League Player of the Year while plying his trade with the Australian Institute of Sport.

Paul began his NSL career at Sunshine George Cross in 1987. During his time at Sunshine his silky skills were noticed, especially by South Melbourne, when the lowly George Cross beat South 4-3, with the young Trimboli notching a hat trick.

Trimboli finished the season with four goals, a third place in the Rothmans Medal. He was chosen to represent Australia (Young Socceroos) at the World Youth Championships in Chile.

He was soon snapped up by South Melbourne. In 1989 he was awarded the Under 21 Player of the Year award as well as the "Golden Goal Award" from the ABC Television for goal of the season.

Buljan keen to stay in Qld

Peter Buljan joined the Brisbane Strikers on loan from Perth Glory last month, for the remainder of the 2000-2001 Season.

John Kosmina made the move for Buljan following the injury to Paul Foster which at the time was thought to be serious enough to put him out for the season but fortunately, Foster returned to the playing field last Sunday and scored two goals to signal his return to the competition.

Peter Buljan's short career has been marred by injury and although only 23, he has had more than his fair share of time on the treatment table.

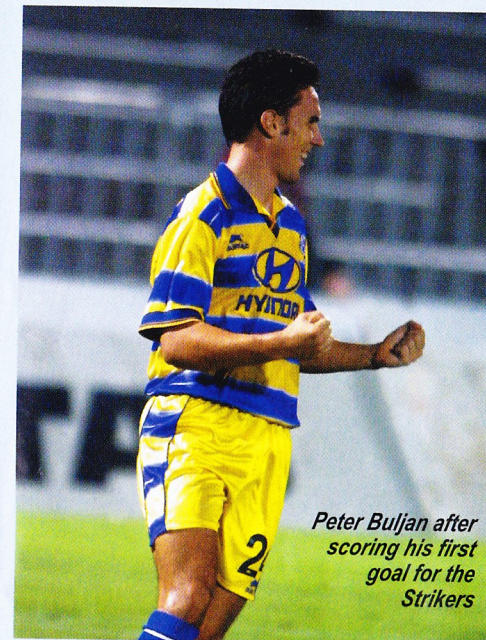

Last season he spent six months recovering from a torn quadricep muscle two weeks after returning from injury he then damaged his ankle and had to have surgery to repair it.

After joining Perth Glory from his home club Canberra Cosmos in Season 1997-1998, he only played a handful of games and spent most of his time on the bench.

Making his debut for the Strikers against Melbourne Knights at the end of January, his first and only goal so far for the Strikers was against Wollongong Wolves.

"I'm looking forward to playing with Fozzie. Now he's fit, the goals will flow between us," he said.

Buljan lives down the Gold Coast with his fiancée and is enjoying the lifestyle he is leading in Queensland. He has hopes of staying on with the Strikers next season.

Peter Buljan after scoring his first goal for the Strikers

A product of the AIS he has played in over 80 games in the National League making his debut in 1996 for the Cosmos.

His goal tally including the one for the Strikers is 25 - approximately one in every three games and is keen to improve that statistic.

Naturally all of the Strikers supporters will also be hoping he does just that in tonight's game against South Melbourne.

Conditions of Entry

1. Entry inside the perimeter fence of the playing area is prohibited at all times and offenders will be prosecuted.
2. All spectators are requested to vacate the ground within 15 minutes of the end of the final game.
3. Police may be requested to remove any unauthorised persons who remain after the stipulated time.

4. The setting alight of, or igniting or discharging of any type of object, including fireworks, signal or smoke flares, is strictly prohibited, Offenders will be arrested and charged.

5. Have a nice evening.

Farina's World Cup views

Former Strikers coach and current Socceroos coach Frank Farina was tucked away in one of the more quieter corporate boxes at Belmore Sports Ground locked in deep concentration, as he observed the recent Sydney Olympic v Perth Glory clash.

With the World Cup qualifiers in a few months, Farina was pondering his selection of players that could take Australia to Japan/Korea 2002.

Farina took some time out to chat with us about Australia's preparation for its World Cup campaign.

Q: Frank, what are the differences between coaching an NSL team and the national team?

F.F: They are two totally different roles. I cannot say one is more difficult than the other because both positions have different pressures. As a national coach, you miss the day-to-day routine of coaching a NSL team.

Coaching a NSL team, you know how your players are going - whether at training or on the field. As a national coach, there are other pressures.

You may have the opportunity for your players to meet once a month- for three or four days. Unless there's a tournament, you may be lucky to have the squad for a month.

It is also difficult being Australian national coach, as most of your players are based overseas. It is not a matter of just picking a team, it is really an on-going job.

As a national coach, you have to prepare a program that really is beneficial to the team's preparation for tournaments such as the World Cup.

You have to constantly consider players' release, players' availability and injuries. Also, everything is timing, especially when it comes to organising matches.

At the moment, Australia cannot pick and choose its opponents for friendly matches. That's why quality matches such as Columbia are so invaluable to our preparation. You have to continuously monitor your players, whether they are in Europe or Australia. I suppose that's the most difficult task.

Q: If you could single out one crucial factor in Australia's preparation for the World Cup, which would it be?

F.F: Obviously, the friendly games are invaluable experience for the players. But I would like to build up a pool of 35 quality players who could fit into the Australian squad.

Australia's squad needs to have depth. In case of an injury to a key player, you need a player who could easily fill that position.

All the major teams of the world have squads of 35 players who have the capabilities to take their team through to the World Cup.

Raul (Blanco) lost two key players in the Olympics, and they made a huge difference in his preparation for his campaign. I want to avoid such a scenario.

That is why I have to look at as many players as possible. You have to also consider that players may perform differently at club and national levels; I need to observe players at both these levels for the final selection of the World Cup squad.

Q: On the subject of the NSL finals, which team do you rate to win this season's championship?

F.F: It will be a very close contest, as there are four teams - Wollongong, Perth, South Melbourne and Olympic that are playing consistently well.

But if I had to choose one team, it would be Wollongong. They are a settled side.

Nick (Theodorakopoulos) did a fantastic job with the team and it looks like Ron (Corry) is continuing to further build the team.

Wollongong has bought well over the years - maybe one or two players a year - but there has not been dramatic changes to the overall squad.

It is a team that has grown together and that really shows when they play.
